FEMA Flooding Assistance

Representatives from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will be conducting damage assessments and registering individuals for FEMA assistance in neighborhoods affected by the severe storms and flooding of June 25 - 26, 2021, including the City of Ypsilanti, Superior Township, and Ypsilanti Township, beginning this evening and lasting for the next week. These representatives will be wearing clothing identifying their FEMA affiliation and have official identification visible. They will ask you for personal information which is required to register for assistance. However, if you are uncomfortable providing that information to anyone that knocks on your door, an official FEMA representative will tell you how you can register on the phone, over the internet, or at a local Disaster Recovery Center instead.

Washtenaw County residents affected by the severe storms and flooding may now call or go online to register for disaster assistance from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). Individuals must still register with FEMA, even if they reported damage to local officials or spoke to a FEMA representative during the preliminary damage assessments in early July.

Homeowners and renters with uninsured or underinsured home damage from the late June disaster may register for assistance by calling 800-621-3362 (TTY: 800-462-7585) between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. ET seven days a week. Another option is to register online at www.disasterassistance.gov. Information applicants need to provide includes Social Security number, daytime telephone number, current mailing address and address and zip code of the damaged property, and private insurance information, if available. When an applicant registers, each is given a unique registration number. The registration number is important and should be written down and kept handy. Anyone who does not have a registration number is not yet registered.
